

POLICY IN THE SPHERE OF QUALITY OF THE EURASIAN HUMANITIES INSTITUTE

The Eurasian Humanities Institute stating itself as a higher educational establishment aims at solving the goals of training contemporary highly skilled staff in the sphere of pedagogical, humanities and social sciences for Astana-city and Akmolinsky oblast.

The Institute policy in the sphere of quality corresponds to the declared mission and is directed to the professional training of the staff for different branches of economy including the innovative spheres: development of the educational programs and technologies of a new generation, providing the effective formation of the urgent key and professional competences of graduates; integration of education, science and innovative activities, transition of the Institute to the world standards of quality in education; modernization and systematic improvement of the educational process.

Developing the system of higher education EAGI pays special attention to training the pedagogical staff for the system of general and vocational training, formation of the teachers of new mentality, who are able to become the original interface providing transmission of the newest educational technologies to a secondary school of general education even in the conditions of being isolated from the professional association (ungraded schools of rural districts, etc.) The scientific-research work implemented at the Institute is directed, first of all, to training of principally new specialists in inter-disciplinary spheres. The competitiveness of the graduated specialists is ensured by the development of the material-technical base and the Institute personnel, introduction of advanced educational technologies and new educational programs, marketing orientation, first and foremost, for the demands of the employers and investors.

The Institute leaders create necessary conditions for the effective employment of the new educational technologies and introduction of the results of scientific researches, the increase of the degree of satisfaction of the teaching staff and the learners with the labor and training conditions on the basis of improving the system of material and moral stimulation of social provision of the Institute employees and learners, formation of the Institute infrastructure, strengthening of the Institute positions as a reliable partner on the market of educational services, improvement of the system of interaction with the employers on the graduates' provision of employment. And practically all the members of the EAGI collective are involved in the process of creating such conditions at the Institute in which the content, structure and methods of teaching, the effective management of the quality of training, orientation for the consumers of educational services and the educational process will allow achieving and strengthening the positions of the leading higher educational establishment in the sphere of pedagogy, economics and law.

Rector

A. Kussayinov
A. Kussayinov

30 December 2011